

Says "The Resilience Of The American Worker Is Reason For Hope That Better Days Lie Ahead"

WASHINGTON, DC - Congressman Mike Pence issued the following statement reacting to the news today that Honda Manufacturing of Indiana in Greensburg had produced its 100,000th Civic:

"I was honored to attend the groundbreaking of this plant in Decatur County nearly three years ago and as I said then, Honda put its faith in the Hoosiers in this community and they have rewarded that commitment with their hard work, and dedication to excellence.

"This milestone is an important reminder in a tough economy that the resilience of the American worker is reason for hope that better days lie ahead. I applaud and congratulate the workers of this plant and the community they represent so well: well done, and keep up the good work!"

2006-2010 Indiana Department of Transportation - 100,000th Civic Made in Indiana